THE FIRE YESTERDAY .- An alarm from

Box 13, at the Dispatch corner, at 11:05 yesterday morning was the signal for the entire Fire Department to turn out, and no little excitement was created when it was announced that Arthur Rooney's furniture warerooms were on fire. This store is situated on Franklin street between Twelfth and Thirteenth, and is adjacent to three excellent fire-plugs. The firemen belonging to Company A (Broad-street engine) were out with the steamer exercising the horses, and when the alarm was sounded had just come down from Church Hill, and were on Nineteenth street. The firemen, not being rble to hear the alarm distinctly, were, on account of the rattle of vehicles on the street, forced to go the Eighteenth-Street engine-house to "get the box." They then hurried to the fire, and reached the plug at the Dispatch corner in five minutes from the time the alarm was sounded, the truck preceding the steamer a few seconds. Meanwhile, however, the hose company at the new fire-station on Tenth street turned out, reaching the Bank-Street plug in three minutes from the time the alarm was turned in, and in two minutes more had a stream playing upon the fire. The Eighteenth-Street engine and host-carriage stationed them selves lower down, and came to a halt in six promptness. The time was not ascertained.

to the very large stock of furniture which Mr. Rooney had stored in the building, the energetic firemen had some difficulty in getting at the flames. They, however, were speedily extinguished, and thus a probable serious loss was reduced to about $50, which and Mr. Pease, ot Mississippi, concluded his argument commenced yesterday. He said outrages were daily committed in the South. The American Senate and the American people should become awakened to the fact that lution more fatal in its results than the late rebellion. He argued that crime was more frequent in the South than in the North, and read from statistics to show that such was the case. He denied that white men were ever punished in the South for the murder of negroes. The same spirit which pervaded the press of the South in 1861 existed to-day. South which did not subscribe to these wild doctrines. The old Whig party did not subscribe to them, but that party was powerless. The old Democrats, who brought on the difficulty before, were men who were leading editorial writers to-day-the men who were tiring the southern heart to murder and assassinate, and overturn the Government of the United States if necessary, In every case where the treasury of the southern States had been plundered it had been done by Democrats. Members of that party were in scheme some way. He argued that Mississippi was the best reconstructed of the insurrectionary States, and build this temple, and both failed. J.
